About GOIC:

The Gulf Organization for Industrial Consulting (GOIC) was founded in 1976 by the United Arab Emirates, Bahrain, Saudi Arabia, Oman, Qatar and Kuwait. In 2009, the Republic of Yemen joined the Organization.

Pursuant to the recommendations of the Supreme Council at the 16th Consultative Meeting in May 2016 on "Placing all Gulf institutions, organizations and offices under the umbrella of the Secretary General of the Gulf Cooperation Council and the supervision of the Council of Ministers and competent ministerial committees", the Gulf Organization for Industrial Consulting (GOIC) reports to the industrial cooperation committee consisting of GCC ministers of industry and the Secretary General of the Gulf Cooperation Council.

According to Article III of the Establishment Agreement, the Organization was founded to achieve industrial cooperation and coordination between member states. In order to do so, it collects and disseminates information about industrial development projects and policies. GOIC also offers specific proposals at establishing joint industrial projects between member states and delivers recommendations to reconcile industrial development projects. The Organization coordinates and develops technical and economic cooperation between existing industrial institutions and others that are yet to be established. In addition to that, GOIC offers technical assistance in preparing and assessing industrial projects and puts together industrial sector-related data and studies.

For more than four decades, GOIC has played a major role in determining and introducing modern industries in the Gulf region by offering recommendations, particularly regarding the unified GCC industrial strategy.

Furthermore, GOIC succeeded in providing the industrial and economic public and private sectors with accurate market information, specialized researches and consulting services and suitable training over the years. At the same time, GOIC offers technical and suitable training over the years. At the same time, GOIC also offers technical and economic public and private sectors with accurate market information, specialized researches and consulting services.

In recent years, GOIC has played an increasing important role relating to the private sector in GCC economies. In fact, GOIC's role was central in terms of socio-economic integration between private and public sectors in the region.
